Sustainability at Killyhevlin Lakeside Hotel

At Killyhevlin Lakeside Hotel, luxury and sustainability go hand in hand. Set on the peaceful shores of Lough Erne, we are proud to offer a high-quality guest experience that respects, protects, and celebrates the natural beauty of our surroundings.

Every aspect of our operation is thoughtfully considered — from how we use energy and water to how we source, serve, and repurpose materials — allowing guests to relax and enjoy their stay while supporting responsible tourism.

Caring for Our Environment

We are continually investing in greener ways of operating and have already made strong progress:

- Powered by 100% renewable electricity, including solar energy
- Use of Bio LPG fuel for heating and hot water to help reduce carbon emissions
- Completion of the Certified Tourism Business Sustainability Programme
- Maintenance of a zero-to-landfill approach
- Extensive use of energy-efficient LED lighting and sensor systems
- Electric vehicle charging stations available for guest use

These initiatives allow us to reduce our environmental footprint while maintaining the comfort and standards our guests expect.

Thoughtful Touches Throughout Your Stay

Sustainability is woven into the guest experience through a number of simple but meaningful actions:

- Refillable bathroom amenities to eliminate single-use plastics
- Towel reuse options to help conserve water and energy
- Removal of plastic bottles from our bar and bedrooms
- Use of compostable takeaway packaging
- Digital reservations, confirmations, and invoices to reduce paper use
- Energy-saving key card systems in guest bedrooms
- Giving our furniture a second life by donating items to local charities, supporting the community while reducing waste

Behind the scenes, our teams carefully monitor food and water usage to minimise waste and maximise efficiency.

People, Community & Partnership

Our sustainability journey is driven by our people. Our staff are trained on sustainability standards, ensuring responsible practices are embedded throughout the hotel.

We are proud to support the local economy, building meaningful partnerships with local producers, artisans, and environmental groups that allow us to showcase the best of the region while giving back to the community.

Working Together for a More Sustainable Stay

We believe sustainability works best when it's shared. We invite our guests to work with us during their stay — whether by reusing towels, reducing waste, choosing local products, or supporting nearby businesses and experiences.

Every small action helps protect our environment, strengthen our local community, and preserve the natural beauty of Lough Erne for generations to come.

Looking Ahead

Our commitment to sustainability continues with future-focused initiatives, including:

- Continued expansion of LED lighting throughout the hotel
- A new native Irish planting scheme, enhancing biodiversity and guest surroundings, planned for completion by 2031
